Website Secret #1

Create A Direct Response Website

Did you know there are two different types of websites?

It's true. There are "branding" websites and there are "direct response" websites.

Branding websites try to build the "brand" of a business. They aim to "create brand awareness" and "generate brand loyalty". The theory is that if a customer sees your "brand" enough times they will eventually buy something off you.

The problem is creating a brand takes time & money... and there are no guarantees it will actually work.

Remember the "dot com" bust?

Many of the companies that went bust were trying to build a brand. They built "branding" websites. But they ran out of cash before anyone started buying anything.

Now, the other type of website is a direct response website.

Direct response websites are designed to get people to respond right away, either to order a product, subscribe to a mailing list, phone your business... or any other action you want someone to take.

They focus on getting an action NOW.

For businesses where cash flow is important, having a direct response website can be the difference between a website that generates thousands of dollars every month, and one that collects cyber-dust and never makes a cent.

So what exactly is a direct response website?

Any website that is designed and written to elicit a response from someone can be classified as a direct response website.

Typically direct response websites are copy-intensive, using as many words as needed to "sell" the person on taking the desired action. The more important the decision is for the person, the more words are needed to sell them on making it.

The core principle behind direct response websites is the old sales and marketing saying, “the more you tell, the more you sell.”

How to create a direct response website:

- First you determine who your prospect is. Who are they? What pain are they looking to alleviate? What pleasure are they looking to heighten? What are they really looking for?
- Next you match up the benefits of what you provide with the benefits your prospects desire.
- Then you define exactly what you want your prospect to do. Do you want them to order your product online? Call to book an appointment? Submit a form asking for more information?
- Finally you write and design your website so that it speaks directly to your prospect and asks them to take action. It leads them to the conclusion that taking the action you want them to take is the most logical choice for them to solve their problems and achieve their goals. And you tell them exactly what action they must take.

Once you’ve designed and worded your site in this manner, almost like magic your prospects will start taking the action you want them to.

They will see that you understand them and their unique problems. They will follow the path you have paved for them. And when you ask them to take action... to buy your product... to call you... to subscribe to your mailing list... they will.

Website Secret #2

Capture The Names & Email Addresses Of Your Prospects & Customers

Can you imagine being able to market your products and services to your prospects (and customers) for free?

Just imagine... no media costs bleeding you dry... no annoying advertising reps to deal with... no marketing expenses at all...

Wouldn't that be a dream?

Well, if you collect the name and email address of people that visit your website, that's exactly what you can do!

Whenever you want to advertise -- whether you're having a sale, introducing a new product line, or just want to remind people about your services -- you simply send out a single email and instantly it goes out to everyone on your mailing list.

Not only that, you'll also be building a very valuable asset for your business.

Many business owners do not realize this, but the real value of their business is actually the list of customers they have built up over the years. After all, your customers are the lifeblood of your business, and a business with a big list of customers can "tap into" that lifeblood at any time.

Need to make some quick sales to hit your targets for the month?

Just send an email to your mailing list with a special offer! It costs you nothing to do and is in your customers hands in a few minutes.

As you can imagine, capturing the name and email address of everyone that visits your website is a very powerful tactic. And the biggest mistake I see most businesses making online is not doing this.

Anyway, capturing the name and email address of your prospects and customers is very easy to do, and I'll show you some low-cost software that will automate the whole process for you -- even sending emails for you while you sleep!

Once you start building your mailing list and fire off your first few emails... and see the orders start coming in automatically... you'll be hooked.

Website Secret #3

Follow Up Regularly With Your Prospects

It has been said that your prospects need to see your advertising approximately 7 times before they will buy from you.

For example, some people may buy something from you the very first time they hear of you. Others may not buy until the 50th time. But overall, on average, it takes about 7 times.

Now, there may be many reasons for this... building up trust, familiarity and awareness, for example... and studying those reasons can give you insights into how to improve the effectiveness of your advertising...

But the fastest and easiest way to take advantage of this knowledge is simply this:

Follow up regularly with your prospects so they see your advertising 7 times much faster than they ordinarily would have!

In the past, the main reason businesses didn't do this was the cost. Getting your advertising in the hands of your prospects 7 times, when using traditional marketing methods such as media advertising, direct mail, or flyers is not only expensive, it's time consuming.

Now, by using the Internet (as you learned in Website Secret #2) you can market to your prospects virtually for free -- so following up with them 7 times costs no more than following up with them once.

Can you begin to imagine how quickly you could increase your revenue if your prospects saw your advertising 7 times more than they do now?

And the best part is you can setup an automated prospect follow-up system. You just create one follow-up campaign and it gets customized and sent to all your other prospects 100% hands-free.

So not only are you following up more regularly... getting your advertising in front of your prospects more often... you're also doing it all automatically with no extra work at all!

Website Secret #4

Focus On Customer Benefits Not Business Features

One of the most powerful ways to increase the response of your website is to focus your advertising on the benefits your customers get from your business, rather than the features of your business.

A feature is what your product/service is.

A benefit is what your product/service does for the customer.

Remember, people buy things for what they do, not what they are.

For example:

Most mortgage brokers base their advertising on their “low rates.” Now, low rates are great. Everyone wants the lowest rate possible. But what does a low rate actually do for the customer?

Well, it might mean they can afford a mortgage and still eat out at restaurants... or go on a holiday... or buy a new car... or any one of hundreds of activities that many people can't afford once they're committed to paying their mortgage off.

These are the benefits people are really looking for!

They're not really looking for a low rate, they're looking for what a low rate does for their life.

It seems a simple distinction, and you might think people already know the benefits... but the fact is they do not.

Test after test shows that specifically and distinctly spelling out the benefits of your products and services will get more people to order than simply listing the features.

Do not make your customers try and figure out the benefits for themselves, always make it a point to tell them exactly what every feature means to them.

Website Secret #5

You've Got 3 Seconds To Grab Their Attention

Did you know that studies show you have approximately 3 seconds to grab your prospects attention with your website?

It's true.

People make thousands of split-second decisions the moment they land on your website. If you fail to grab their attention they will click "back" and will never be seen again.

After all, people are busy... they are tuned in to station WIIFM (What's In It For Me)... they don't have time to waste on websites that don't offer them a specific benefit.

So you need to grab their attention fast.

Now, the quickest and easiest way to grab attention is with a headline.

Eye studies show that a headline is one of the first parts of a website people read. Unfortunately, most business websites don't have a headline at all!

Or if they do have a headline it's the name of their business -- not exactly "attention grabbing".

You need a headline that targets your customers needs, wants, and desires... and highlights the benefits they will get.

For example:

The headline of my website is "How To Make Your Website Pull In 400% More Business Than Your Competition -- At No Extra Charge!"

It targets the exact benefit you get by doing business with me -- making more money without spending any -- and gives you a reason to read on and find out more.

If I had just written "Hanif Khaki Consulting" it wouldn't have anywhere near the same effect. After all, you're not looking for a consultant... you're looking to make more money without spending any!

Now, your home page is the most important page on your website -- it is the one page nearly everyone will see. Make sure it has a headline that “sells” people on reading the rest of your website.

Website Secret #6

Let Other People Sing Your Praises

Have you ever stayed up late and watched an infomercial?

I have to admit, I’m an infomercial junkie.

I never actually buy anything, but I find it extremely interesting (and profitable) studying what they do -- some of these companies pull in ridiculous sales figures every single time their commercials play... they must be doing something right.

One thing you might have noticed is the number of “testimonials” and “success stories” they use.

You know, real life stories about their customers’ success with their products.

These are extremely effective at bringing in sales.

People are much more likely to believe something someone else says about you than what you say about yourself... after all, you’re probably only going to say good things about yourself!

Also, no one likes a braggart -- and when you tell people how good you are at what you do it can come off as bragging (even if it’s 100% true!) -- but it’s a different story when it’s someone else telling people how good you are.

Bottom line:

People put a lot of weight in 3rd party testimonials.

Yet so few businesses use them!

I bet you have hundreds of happy customers who have nothing but great things to say about you, right?

Well those testimonials are worth their weight in gold.

Here's a real-world example, one of the services I provide is an intensive 1-Day Internet Marketing Workshop that shows businesses not only the number of real prospects that are actively searching for them online, but also how to drive those prospects into their businesses... instead of their competitors'. Now although this by itself is powerful cutting edge information that every business needs, and it's not generally available anywhere else, would you like to know the main reason the workshop sells out every single month and has a rapidly growing waiting list?

The answer is quite simple. It's due to the overwhelming number of thrilled business owners who have already attended my workshops and are seeing overwhelming success. But of course, you would never know that unless you could see their success stories for yourself on my website, right? (You can see these at: <http://www.profitwize.com/1dayworkshop>). Don't worry, even though there are well over 400 success stories on file, only 30 are displayed on the site☺.

So you see, I could spend all day telling you how the workshops have literally transformed all types of businesses and increased my clients' profits by 600% plus....but isn't it much more effective to let real customers tell you themselves?

Make it a habit of collecting customer success stories from everyone you deal with, and feature them prominently on your website. No doubt you will see an instant improvement in your conversions.

Website Secret #7

Keep Them Interested With Audio & Video

If you want to quickly bond with your customers -- without ever having met them -- and have them trusting you... respecting you... even liking you... then adding audio and video to your website is a must. For example:

You could record a short audio introduction for your website, introducing yourself and the key benefits your customers get by doing business with you.

When people visit your website they click on the “play” button and hear your welcome message. Instantly you have jumped through the screen and grabbed their attention.

They can now hear you... they know that you are real... that there is a real person behind the website. It helps build trust and rapport much faster than text alone.

Or you could do the same thing with video.

The fact is, people have short attention spans. Anything that grabs their attention and keeps it focused on you, your business, or your website is a good thing. Audio and video captivate people’s attention for minutes (sometimes hours) at a time.

Here’s another great tip:

You’ve already seen the power of using customer success stories on your website... well how about audio and video testimonials?

These are even more powerful than written testimonials!

People can hear the authenticity in the voice... see the person speaking from the heart about how good your products and services are... it’s so much more believable than a written testimonial.

And how about this...

You can even create full-blown video commercials and have them blasted out all over the Internet -- for a fraction of the cost of a TV commercial!

Big companies have been doing this for years, but now it's so affordable even one person operations can't afford NOT to have their own video commercials on the Internet.

Now, You Do Have Options...

You Can Freely Use My Advice To Improve Your Business and Your Website

Or, if it's appropriate, and entirely up to you...

Save Yourself Time AND Get Guaranteed Results By Hiring Me!

For example, I can provide everything I talked about above, plus...

1. A custom made website (or re-design you current site) that...
 - a. Gets you listed on Google, Yahoo & MSN and brings in plenty of targeted traffic.
 - b. Gets you more calls, more customers, and more profit.
 - c. Gets you a lower cost per lead than any other advertising you are currently doing.
2. A domain name for your business. (For example, YourCompany.com) -- You'll also have company email, like you@YourCompany.com
3. Secure "hacker-proof" website hosting to keep your files (and customer data) safe from prying eyes.
4. Web-based software that captures the name and email address of your customers, then automatically sends them information about your company while you sleep.
5. Tracking software that shows you exactly which pages of your website your customers visit... how long they stay... which products they're interested in... and where they go afterwards!
6. And too much to list!

Even if you don't decide to work with me today after our brief discussion, there will be no hard feelings and we'll part as friends, and you'll undoubtedly get more value and performance from your website than ever before.
